

MOOOMM!

By Mandy Morehouse

There once was a little sister who had an IMPORTANT question.
She hugged her bunny and took off with a bound.

“MOM!” she called
but, mom was no where to be found.

“MOOooOM!” she sang
Mom HAD to be around (right?).

“Mommy?” she yelled.

And found Dad instead.

CAN I HELP YOU?

no

“MMOOooOOM”

she wailed.

As she walked through the house.

“Do you know where mom is?”

She asked her brother who was in his room.
He shrugged his shoulders and answered “No”

Her brother decided he had a question for mom too.
So they marched out of the room while whistling a tune.

They came across their older sister who was on call with her friends.
“Do YOU know where mom is?” They said.

Their older sister shook her head and hung up with her friends.
She got out of her chair and followed them out yelling

“MOM?!”

Does this game have an end?

They made their way to the house nook where they FINALLY found mom, reading her book?!

“MOM”

They cheered. Mom seemed snug.

“What is it loves?” Mom asked her arms open wide for hugs.

The little sister jumped into moms lap,
She could finally ask her IMPORTANT question.
“Mom, can we have a snack?”

